BIOGRAPHY

With over 35 years of professional experience, Eddie Montilla is a Grammy-associated keyboardist, producer, and composer whose work spans hip-hop, Latin, classical, and film scoring. Born in New York City and raised in Puerto Rico, Eddie carries a deep musical legacy — his father, Fernando Montilla, was a pioneer of stereo imaging in 1930s film soundtracks. Signed with Universal Music Publishing Group's Latin division, Eddie is the primary musician for the acclaimed production duo Cool & Dre and has conducted the London Symphony Orchestra at Abbey Road Studios.
